

Capture the Flag – Rainbow

A small-medium map with two sides. The Kingdom [A], and The Raiders. This was mostly inspired by the Roman Empire, Dark Souls, and the Rainbow Album cover. Hence the name. Each side has a tower housing each team's flags. The castle's tower [2] has 2 entrances, going up the ramps that lead into the top of the tower [1], or going through the side and going up the spiral staircase. Both ways have the same time, and risk reaching the top of the tower. Same rules apply to the archer tower, however it does it differently using ladders and elevators.

Both sides are separated by a moat, with 3 bridges [3]. The moat is also deep enough to allow someone to hide in the water, allowing more freedom and experimentation with different tactics. I wanted the map to be quite simple, and easy to understand, explaining the lack of size or different gimmicks. I also wanted it to be fair, so I also based it on basketball, though I just moved the baskets over some to make it interesting and have fun with the design.

